PROFILE

Experienced programmer with deep understanding of the full stack of technologies used in modern web development, bringing forth expertise in design, attention to detail and creative solutions. Always interested in computers, design and art since very young, I've been working freelance and in personal projects for more than 9 years and now looking to work full time programming.

Started with PHP - MySQL in 2012, then switched to React - Node.js - PostgreSQL 3 years ago, focusing mostly on front-end. For this I redid an old auto-shop manager my father made in PHP, migrating its database and making it my personal project for learning new technologies and developing my personal style in design and interaction. I'm currently rebuilding it with Typescript and styled-components targeting good user experience, performance and scalability by writing efficient and structured code, all while solidifying my knowledge of databases, client-server architecture, testing and deployment of web systems.

My latest works are:

· amaresapart.com.ar - Based on a brand style guide made in collaboration with a graphic designer.
· mercadosregionales.com.ar - Made with the intention to implement a web store in the future.
· taller.calarco.com.ar - The latest version of the auto-shop manager, already in use by three clients.

Most of the code can be found on my GitHub.
